'See Something, Say Something' Results in Multiple Narcotics Charges for Palm Coast Woman

Thursday morning, the Flagler County Sheriff's Office Special Investigations Unit (SIU) and Special Weapons and Tactics team (SWAT) executed a search warrant at 57 Rae Drive.

The search warrant stemmed from an investigation into the residence after FCSO received multiple tips and complaints from citizens advising of suspected drug dealings taking place at the home.

The target of the investigation, 22-year-old Caswayla McCaster, was found to be in possession of crack cocaine, hydrocodone pills, and cannabis. Inside the residence, it was discovered that multiple children were living there as well. The Department of Children and Families were notified and will be conducting a separate investigation. The children and the residence were turned over to a family relative who was on scene.

"This arrest is another outstanding example of 'see something, say something' in action," Sheriff Rick Staly said. "Citizens noticed something was wrong at this residence and they spoke up. Thanks to the tips from our residents and the investigative work by our team we were able to get these drugs off the
